

Vision M5 - Renewal and Plurality

Straight to the point: Vision M5 is a reference to the gospel of Matthew, Chapter 5, which says: "Jesus teaches us to live happy and to be more winners in this chaotic world." Perseverance. Faith Things there are necessary not only in life but also in the music market. Once the group of Agudos, interior of Sao Paolo, brings to his career.

But nothing says the faith if it does not come with a work of quality, unique and capable of playing who listen. Feature that can be seen in the ballad "Limits of Reason", in this first album, "Extended Hand", 2007. In lyrical terms, the intention of the band, according to its own, is "confronting the man with himself, bringing in letters reflections on the truths of this world."

One simply heard can be wrong. Who hears the pop / rock balance of "Now I know" may be surprised with clearly progressive vein of "This Is The Day". Suddenly, heavy riffs and a broken structure. In another, a clever melodic construction. Respect without being slushy. Dynamism and modernity that is not lost on exaggerated claims. Accurate. So Marcio (vocals and keyboard), Belchior (bass), Vagner (Solo Guitar), Daniel (Base Guitar) and Robson (drums) work.

Together since 2001 and doing shows in different places and cities, the Vision M5 disseminating their first album and already preparing new compositions for the second. No escape from its evangelistic purpose, Marcio exemplifies the intent: "arising from a strong desire to move the water it not to comply with the chaos that the world lives and take rather good news for anyone who believes in Jesus does not be lost, but have everlasting life!".

Listen and draw your conclusions.
